Sri Abhinava Vidya Theertha Learning Resource Centre

The Sree Sankara College Library, established in 1954. In 2018, the Library's current location, Abhinava Vidhya Theertha Hall, underwent renovation. Following a government decision from 1995, the General Library integrated all of the departmental libraries.

The Library Advisory Committee, supports and oversees the regular operation of the library, and meets periodically, to discuss the requirements and enhancements for further development.

The college library is fully automated and is capable of carrying out tasks like circulation, OPAC searches, cataloguing, etc. with the assistance of the Koha software. The library subscribes to numerous periodicals and magazines and has a collection of roughly 54583 books. The library follows the Open Access System and the books are well-organized according to the Dewey Decimal Classification system. Faculty and students of Sree Sankara College are the users of the library. Postgraduate students and Research Scholars can take five books at a time whereas undergraduate students can take two books. Ten books are issued to the faculty members and two books to the administrative staff.

Members can renew books through WebOPAC (<https://ssclibrary.texicon.in/>) by logging into their accounts. A member can reserve their books through WebOPAC or directly in the library. The library will notify the member as soon as the book is available. Issuing reference books is not permitted. Users may also access their accounts online to check the due dates of books they've been issued as well as library materials. The WebOPAC contains a list of online e-resources that have been subscribed through NLIST, as well as open-access resources. It allows users to search all of the Library's electronic resources from a single location. The Library also maintains an institutional repository that enables the user to access the institute's publications. The access is limited to campus only, it provides a forum for academicians, researchers, students, and staff members to share their research papers, book chapters, articles, and others. Collections of the library include magazines, newspapers, journals, textbooks, audiobooks, thesis, reference books, the bounded volume of journals, and dissertations. A library club is also functioning in the college, comprising of students from various departments of the college who are interested in reading and related activities, which helps in the overall activities of the library.

Library Activities During the Year 2021-2022

Library Automation

In this age of Information and Communication Technology, computers are being used for day-to-day housekeeping activity of the library which saves the time of the end-users and library professionals also and at the same time avoids duplication of work and makes the library service smooth and effective. The influence of ICT has drastically changed the library scenario in terms of collection, organization, and services. Simultaneously, users’ demands, attitudes, and information-seeking behaviour have dynamically changed. They need relevant, accurate, authentic information easily, and quickly within a single place at their hand.

The library has been fully automated from November 2021 onwards with KOHA software and started online services including renewal, resource access, etc. At the present library, users can enjoy the library facilities online from anywhere. Users can search for their desired document/article through Library OPAC which can be accessed from anywhere, anytime, and also a list of open access resources is provided through the OPAC which helps them to search and access it whenever required. SMS and email alert service started in the library and users will receive reminders and notices from the library via both email and SMS service

e-Gate Register

To record and analyze the daily count of visitors, an e-gate system using barcode scanning is implemented. Using this, the patron's library card will be scanned by the system during entry and exit at the library gate, and this information will be stored. This method helps to generate various reports for various library management purposes. Also, it helps to analyze the category-wise, date-wise, month-wise, and year-wise visit count automatically.
